Karla Gallant and Leonardo Savone,
August 3, 2007, Prince Edward Island

Last summer, teachers Karla Gallant and Leonardo Savone made the most of their vacation and headed east to tie the knot. The beautiful shoreline and pink sandy beaches of Prince Edward Island were the perfect backdrop for their nautical motif. The day began on a sunny note as Karla and Leo exchanged vows at St. Bernadette's Catholic church, a petite but quaint venue. Shortly afterwards, Karla and Leo took advantage of Canada's East Coast scenery and travelled to various places, like Cedar Dunes Beach, for fun photos. "A storm hit during that time, but it lasted only a half-hour—we had to run for cover. It was hilarious but nice because the storm cooled the temperature," Karla reminisces. While the duo were taking the last of their photos, guests mingled at the Harbourside Centre. The reception venue was a simple but beautiful room decorated with lanterns and surrounded by windows overlooking the harbour. The storm, which resulted in a power outage, turned out to be a blessing in disguise. "It added to the intimate atmosphere," Karla says. "The power came back on just in time for our first dance."
